

September 22, 2017 – Plano, TX

For Immediate Release

NexRev LLC Announces New Leadership Position to Facilitate Continued Growth

Company Names Josh Riddle, Chief Operations Officer

NexRev LLC, a leading manufacturer of performance-improving energy efficiency upgrades for HVAC equipment and provider of multi-site facility management performance and cost reductions, announced today the appointment of an existing key officer. Josh Riddle, Vice President of Operations, is now Chief Operations Officer (COO), managing all aspects of the company related to delivery and performance.

With the additional opportunities and new challenges associated with NexRev's growth, Josh is perfectly suited for this expanded leadership.

Josh has been with NexRev for almost 18 years, and has participated in all aspects of the organization. He has shown leadership ability at the highest levels.

"Josh has always responded with a positive attitude towards challenges presented, a dedicated effort to learn more, delivery at a high level, and shown a passion to continue to help us collectively be more than we were yesterday."

Kenneth Smith, NexRev CEO

Riddle has an extensive history with NexRev, beginning as Project Manager overseeing multiple nationwide deployments. His 20+ years of experience in operations management in the construction and manufacturing industry gives him an acute insight into all facets of the company's business operations.

In previous roles with the company, Riddle was an instrumental figure in the development and market deployment of the DrivePak™ rooftop unit retrofit, Freedom Energy Management System solution, and NexRev's Proactive Portfolio Management service.

As Director of Operations, Riddle was responsible for overall fiscal and operational performance having established numerous company-wide initiatives for efficient production and fabrication procedures, which are still in practice today.

This personnel change will allow for the continued positive growth of the NexRev organization, and is indicative of additional positive things coming in the near future.

About NexRev LLC...

Established in 1994, NexRev LLC is an energy technologies company providing energy and operational cost reduction, as well as IoT, down to facility level integration for various market sectors. Their hundreds of customer relationships include small-to-large box retailers, quick-service restaurants, convenience stores, casual dining restaurants, entertainment/theater companies and commercial/industrial multisite companies.